the dominion parliament, and was minister of the interior in the administration of Sir Charles Tupper, which held office for two months in 1896.

His facial resemblance to his father is striking, and he has much of the political shrewdness which made Sir John the leading public figure in Canada during his lifetime. It is an open seeret in Canada that Hugh John Macdonald is to become the leader of the dominion conservative party in succession to Sir Charles Tupper upon the retirement of the latter. This cannot be long delayed, as Sir Charles is now in his seventy-ninth year.

The Consumption of Beer. Recent statistics show that the consumption of beer in Germany during the year 1897-98 was 1,383,700,000 gallons; 1,192,000,000 in Great Britain; 180,000,000 in France and about 90,-000,000 in Russia. A better notion of the popularity of beer as a beverage is to be had from the estimate of consumption "per head" of the population. It is reckoned at 36 gallons in Belmany, 21 in Denmark, 12 in Switzerland, ten in the United States, 91/2 in in France, 31/2 in Norway, 21/2 in Sweden and one in Russia.

The royal sepulcher, which is situated directly beneath St. George's chapel and the roval memorial chapel at Windsor eastle, is one of the places to which no member of the public is ever admitted. Some one of the royal family may pay an occasional visit; some few, very few, privileged persons have at times been known to have their curiosity satisfied, but from the public eye the place is kept secret. Even by those who have been permitted to descend the stairs and pass through the gates into the presence of the royal dead the visit could not be called inspiring.
